DEEP CYCLE: THE REINCARNATION OF HERMAN MEYDAG

Max Goldfarb

D^{eep} Cycle is a broadcast, installation, and publication centered around a "post-oil" future. The project is illustrated here in Goldfarb's schematic drawings and plans. Deep Cycle's fulcrum is the Mobile49, a retrofit emergency communications truck, which has been present in much of Goldfarb's work of the past decade.

MAX GOLDFARB's work intersects many disciplines. His projects take the form of objects, improvised electronics, radio transmissions, publications, and performative situations. His ongoing project Mobile49, centers around a radioutility studio housed inside a converted emergency vehicle, drawing together many facets Goldfarb's creative project.
